

No Bananas 430cc Driver, Finally, The Ultimate Fix For A Slice

If you want to snuff the life out of an unrelenting slice, and you think it would be easier to fix your clubs, than fix your swing, the No Bananas Driver is made for you. Its anti-slice technology can eliminate the slice from your game forever. Eighty to ninety percent of golfers tend to fade, push, or slice the ball off the tee. Primarily, two factors cause a slice. The clubface remains open at impact, or the swing path is outside-in.

Instead of focusing on one drastic measure to neutralize the conditions causing the slice, the heads of Burns' No Bananas Drivers use a combination of slice-fighting features including a hosel offset geared to help square the face through impact, a 5 degree closed face, and extra weight in the toe, which Burns says encourages the face to close.

The amount of left-to-right spin imparted on the ball decreases dramatically, and the result is straighter, more accurate shots. The two-inch deep, incredibly thin face achieves maximum trampoline effect, while conforming to the USGA legal COR limit.

Available in both offset and non-offset 430-cc forged titanium head models, the exclusive No Bananas Driver is guaranteed to help slicers hit longer and straighter. It comes with a Magilla Gorilla head cover, and is also available in Left-Hand Models. Right Hand Models are available in 9* and 12* degree lofts.

No Bananas fairway woods, and No Bananas port-weighted hybrids are also available.

No Bananas adjustable port weighted irons are available with oversized heads and anti-slice technology.

F2 - Face Forward Shank Proof Wedges It's impossible to shank the ball with this club's recessed hosel.

The F2 Wedge may look unconventional, but as soon as you hit it, you'll know why it is the biggest jump in short game technology since the invention of the sand wedge!

F2 stands for Face Forward technology. As you can see in the picture (at right), with this ingenious design, the face has been moved forward and the hosel back, enabling the ball to strike and leave the clubface before grass or sand can grab the hosel and twist the clubface.

The F2 Series Wedges are available in a 52 degree Gap Wedge, 56 degree Classic Wedge, 58 degree Plus Wedge and a 60 degree Lob Wedge.

They sell for $99 each when bought separately, but you can purchase a full set for less on-line at their website at www.F2golf.com. to order call: 800-476-0507
